TRAGEDY AT BUTLER.

idly Encounter Between a Town Marshal and Deputy United States Marshal BUTLER, Mo., Dec. 5.—The most terrible tragedy which has ever taken place in this city was enacted Tuesday night, at ten o'clock, at the residence of City Marshal J. H. Morgan, and by which Deputy United States Marshal J. P. Willis, as well as Morgan, lost their lives.

On Monday Willis was on the streets drunk and quarrelsome, and finally attacked Captain J. W. Hannah, who, after some parleying, knocked him down with a cane. Soon after this Marshal Morgan put him in the cooler from which he was released a couple of hours afterwards, upon giving bond to keep the peace and to appear for trial on Saturday next.

Tuesday morning Willis, with S. P. Francisco, left for Kansas City, where it transpires that Willis swore out a warrant for Morgan and Hannah, charging them with obstructing a Unite States officer in the discharge of his duties.

They returned at ten o'clock at night. accompanied by S. S. Price, an agent of a building and loan association, of Washington, D. C. Willis and Price went at once to the residence of Morgan and called him to the door and told him they had come for him.

Both fired their guns at almost the same instant, and both shots penetrated the bowels of the other. Willis and Price then grabbed Morgan, drew him from the house and Willis beat him brutally about the head and also fired two or three additional shots into his then prostrate body. The neighborhood was aroused and both wounded men were carried to the house. Four shots were gone from Willis' revolver and one from Morgan's. Price was conveyed to jail where he will likely remain for some time. Morgan died at 1:30 and Willis at four o'clock.

HONOR FOR BREWER.

The Kansas Judge Appointed Associate
Justice of the Supreme Bench.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The President yesterday sent to the Senate the name of David J. Brewer, of Kansas, to be Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Judge David Josiah Brewer was born in Smyrna, Asia Minor, June 30, 1837. At the time of his birth his father, Rev. Josiah Brewer, was a missionary to the Greeks in Turkey. Judge Brewer is related to a distinguished family. His mother Amelia A. Field Brewer, was a sister of David Dudley and Cyrus W. Field. He inherited both from his father and mother the instincts of culture, and educa-tional advantages of a high order contributed to their development.

Judge Brewer graduated from Yale College in 1856 and completed his law studies at the Albany law school in 1858. He located in Leavenworth in 1859 and has resided there ever since.

He has held many positions of public trust in Kansas, and always with honor to himself and his constituents. In 1864 he was elected judge of the dis-trict court of the First judicial district of the State of Kansas. In 1870 he was elected Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of Kansas, which position he held until 1884, when he resigned and was appointed United States Judge of the Eighth circuit.

Earthquake in New Hamp

DOVER, N. H., Dec. 5.—Early Tues-day morning the inhabitants of Alton Bay were awakened by an earthquake k which jarred the houses. Many ple rushed from their beds. Crockery and glassware were broken. Clocks were stopped at 1:29. A second shock was more severe than the first. People then rushed from their houses, exg they would tumble down. The hell on the steamer Mount Washington in the middle of the bay was rung. The shock was also felt at Alton and Gilford, but not so severe.

he Cashier to the Sergeant-at-Arms of the National House of Representatives Absconds With $72,000-Probably Gene to Join the Canadian Colony.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.-From present appearances Edward Silcott, cashier of the sergeant-at-arms of the House of Representatives, has fled, carrying off $72,000 of the funds entrusted to his Silcott was a trusted man who came here from Ohio, and was appointed by Mr. Leedom when that gentleman assumed office six years ago. He had good business qualifications and soon possessed himself of the unlimited confidence of his superior.

Last Saturday he notified Mr. Leedom that he was going to New York and would be back Saturday night. A message was received from him dated New York Monday morning saying that he had been detained but would return Monday night. A similar message reached his wife in this city.

As he did not appear Tuesday Mr. Leedom was fearful that he had been overtaken by some accident, but to satisfy rising suspicions began an investigation. The information that Silcott had drawn his bank balance deepened the suspicions and the inquiry was pursued. The enormous office safe could not be opened at the moment, as Silcott had the combination, but when an entrance was finally effected it was found that some $30,000, set apart for the use of the paying teller was intact.

The next inquiry was made at the Treasury Department and Mr. Leedom was stunned by the result. He was informed that Silcott had called there Saturday and had drawn about $72,000. It was possible for him to draw this large sum without exciting comment. as he had for a long time been charged with the duty of collecting the money with which the salaries of the Representatives are paid.

Silcott is under bonds in the sum of $50,000, his bondsmen numbering about fifteen persons. This is, however, an indemnity bond given to the sergeantat-arms and Mr. Leedom, who is himself bonded in the sum of $50,000, is directly responsible for the shortage.

Mr. Leedom says that he would have trusted Silcott to any sum of money. Mr. Leedom says that it was within Silcott's power to carry off not less than $150,000 instead of the $72,000 which is missing. It was suggested by a person that to standing near have carried off the balance would have changed the nature of the crime from embezzlement to theft and have subjected the perpetrator to extradition, even in Canada, whither it is already rumored the missing man has fled. It is stated that Mr. Leedom was victimized once before by the immediate predecessor of Silcott, but to an amount insignificant in comparison with his present loss.

JEFFERSON DAVIS DEAD.

Death of the Noted Confederate Leader— Sketch of His Life.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 6 .- Jefferson Davis died at 12:45 o'clock this morning at the residence of his friend, J. U. Payne. From the beginning of his fatal illness Mr. Davis had insisted that his case was nearly or quite hopeless, though the dread of pain or fear of death never appeared to take the slightest hold upon his spirits, which were brave and even loyant from th beginning of his attack. In vain did the doctors strive JEFFERSON DAVIS. to impress upon him that his health was improving. He steadily insisted that there was no improvement, but with Christian resignation he was content to accept whatever Providence had in store After death the face of the deceased though looking slightly emaciated, showed no trace of suffering, more nearly resembling that of a peaceful sleeper than of the dead.

USEFUL AND SUGGESTIVE.

-For burns use lime water, olive oil and glycerine, equal parts, applied on lint.

—To bring back the bloom to your cheeks, let your food be of a simple na-ture, and take plenty of outdoor exer-

-For a good liniment for use in the case of swelled joints in rheumatism, take of soap-liniment one ounce and of tincture of opium one drachm; mix and rub in freely.

-To take marking ink out of linen. saturate the spot with cyanuret of potassium applied with a camel's hair brush. After the ink disappears, wash the spot thoroughly in cold water.

-In procuring bulbs for outdoor planting it should be remembered that the single tulips are the earliest to flower and are therefore generally preferred; the double-early are, however, not much later and are very handsome on the lawn

-A good way to dry corn is to make a frame of four pieces of lath, and tack a piece of white muslin on it, as a quilt is tacked to a quilting frame. Suspend this about three feet above the stove by strings or wires reaching from the cor ner of the frame to the ceiling, and spread the corn on it.—Housekeeper.

-A Breakfast or Lunch Dish .- Pick up one teacupful of codfish quite fine, let it soak in lukewarm water, while you mix two cups of mashed potatoes with one cup of sweet milk, two eggs, a lump of butter the size of an egg, and pepper. Squeeze the fish from the water mix all together thoroughly and bake in a buttered dish for twenty minutes or half an hour.

-Boiled Cider Apple Sauce.-Six quarts of peeled and quartered sweet apple, one pint of molasses, one and one-half pints of boiled cider, one-half pint of water. Put all together in a preserving kettle, cover closely and simmer gently three hours. Do not lift the cover and it will not burn if the fire is right, but turn out red, rich and delicious.-Household.

-White merino underclothing, when past wearing, make excellent wash-rags and cleaning cloths, and nothing makes better holders for either ironing or use about the stove than east off woolen hosiery covered with a thick drilling. It is a good plan to make the covers for iron-holders of white drilling in the form of a bag, then they can be slipped off and washed when soiled

-There is nothing to compare with the tincture or a strong infusion of capsicum annum mixed with an equal bulk of mucilage of gum arabic and with the addition of a few drops of glycerine for a "black eye," according to the Pharma-ceutical Era. This should be painted all over the bruised surface with a camel's hair pencil and allowed to dry on, a second or third coating being applied as soon as the first is dry. If done as soon as the injury is inflicted this treatment will invariable prevent the blackening of the bruised tissue.

ABSINTHE DRINKING.

Origin of the Vice in France and its Wide Prevalence.

There seems to be no doubt that absinthe as a cordial was largely made by the old French confiseurs, who were ex perts in the science of distillation; but it was only when used as a flavor to other beverages, and does not seem to have become a common potation until about the beginning of the reign of Louis Phillippe. The balance of evidence, so far as it is obtainable, would seem to show that the Algerian campaign, in the days when the Princes of the Orleans family were fighting so bravely in North Africa, and when the favorite song of the French troops was great deal to do with the popularization of absinthe among military men. The operations of war had to be carried out not only under a burning sun, but in all seasons, at all hours, and very often on marshy ground. The men were exposed to continual fatigue, and nothing is more probable than that some skillful and kindly military surgeon, observing the ravages made by brandy on the health of the troops in such a climate as that of Algeria, prescribed as a stimulant diluted absinthe. The soldiers may have made wry faces at first at a beverage which to the uninitiated taste very like "doctor's stuff," but with disastrous celerity they soon grew to like it and to drink it in excess.

From a camp tonic dispensed to recruit exhausted strength, and which in the beginning may have been as beneficent as the eucalyptus cordial served out to the laborers in the Roman Campagna, absinthe became the favorite pick-meup in the Algerian cafes. It soon r crossed the Mediterranean, left its trac at Marseilles and Toulon, and with te rible quickness became domiciled Paris. It seized, so to speak, upon the people just as gin did on the Londo populace early in the eighteenth ce tury, and has never since released i dreadful grip. We had positively pass an act of Parliament in George II. time to diminish the number of gi shops, and to restrict the consumptic of the poison by placing largely in creased excise duties upon it. neighbors have not yet seen fit to pas any law tending to suppress, or even restrict, the sale of absinthe. The de eterious stuff has absolutely been allow ed to adulterate the French language Modern dictionaries have not scruple to admit the verb "absinther," to "al sinthiate," and "s'absinther," which to swill or gorge one's self with a sinthe; then an absinthe drunkard called an "absintheur"; and there even an aphorism current in the brass ries: "If thou hesitatest, absinthiat hyself." Poetry, finally, has been ressed into the darkly fascinating se vice of this maleficent herb. Absinth has been called, from its half-verdan half opalescent hue, the "Fairy wit the Green Eyes." Infinitely baleful pernicious, fatal has that green-eyed fairy been to tens of thousands of Frenchmen, gentle and simple, lettered and unlettered; nor among the victims of the seductive poison should be for-HOGS-Good to choice......

Catarrhal Deafness-Hay Fever-A New Home Treatment.

Sufferers are not generally aware that these diseases are contagious, or that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membrane of the nose and eustachian tubes. Microscopic research, however, has proved this to be a fact, and the result of this discovery is that a simple remedy has been formulated whereby Catarrh, Hay Fever and Catarrhal Deafness are permanently cured in from one to three simple applications made at home by the patient once in two weeks.

N. B.—This treatment is not a snuff or an ointment; both have been discarded by reputable physicians as injurious. A pamphlet explaining this new treatment is sent on receipt of three cents in stamps to pay postage by A. H. Dixon & Son, cor. of John and King Street, Toronto, Canada.—Christian Advocate.
